DNA TEST, PATERNITY (LEGALLY ADMISSIBLE)

DESCRIPTION

To determine the biological father of your child, get the Chain of Custody DNA Paternity Test. This test gives you an accurate determination (with an average probability of paternity of 99.9%) of who the child's biological father is. This test must be used when a person is attempting to seek or deny child support, child custody or visitation; seek medical, social security or military benefits; add or remove a Name from the child's birth certificate and/or Voluntary Acknowledgement of Paternity; immigration; and adoption.

The process is very simple and easy. It starts by collecting epithelial cell (skin cell) samples using a soft swab rubbed on the inside cheeks of the mouth to obtain DNA from the child and the alleged father. A sample from the mother is not required, but can be useful. With mother's participation, the lab will be able to determine which half of the child's DNA was contributed by the mother; therefore, the remaining DNA must then match the alleged father. Then the DNA of the potential father is analyzed to determine the probability that his genetic markers are found in the child. This is known as a percentage of probability of paternity. The good news is our DNA testing laboratory partner examines 20 genetic markers at no additional cost, unlike other DNA labs that only test 16, improving the overall probability of paternity.

Our professional medical assistant will rub soft swabs on the inside of both cheeks of the child and possible father, and any additional participants, to determine the paternity of a single child. If more than one child is being tested or if there is more than one alleged father, additional fees will be incurred. If you have a specimen with DNA on it, please ask our medical assistant if we are able to do the test on your specimen and for additional pricing.

If you need test results for legal purposes, get the Chain of Custody DNA Paternity Test. Review the reasons why people need legally-admissible paternity tests in the Description area, above.

HOW LONG WILL IT TAKE TO GET MY LAB TEST RESULTS?

Test results are available in an average of 3 to 5 business days after specimens are collected from all tested parties.

OTHER RELEVANT LAB TESTS

If you don't need results for legal purposes and you just want to know an answer, customers typically get the Basic DNA Paternity Test. It is important to note that the test results for a Basic DNA Paternity Test will not contain names of the tested parties, and cannot later be used as legal evidence.

While you're here, you may want to invest in a Basic Check-Up, Urine Drug Test (10-Panel) or Comprehensive STD Panel.
