GONORRHEA STD TEST

DESCRIPTION

Gonorrhea is a sexually transmitted disease (STD) caused by a bacterium that can cause numerous reproductive and health issues if left untreated. It's a serious disease that often has minimal or no symptoms. If you do have symptoms, some include a discharge and painful urination. These symptoms are very similar to Chlamydia, so you might want to consider the Comprehensive STD Panel - it tests for Gonorrhea and Chlamydia, as well as several others.

WHY DO I NEED THIS TEST?

If you've had unprotected sex (vaginal, anal or oral) with someone that has Gonorrhea, you should get tested.

If you're interested in this test, you might also want to consider the Comprehensive STD Panel - it tests for several other STDs.
